Lorraine Grover, Psychosexual Nurse Specialist, The London Clinic, Harley Street

When: Saturday 18th April, 9.45am

Session: Late Effects and Survivorship

Topic: Intimacy and relationships during and after cancer treatment

Lorraine Grover is a Psychosexual Nurse Specialist and internationally recognised advocate for sexual wellbeing especially in cancer care.

Her work in the field began in the early 1990's when she helped run one of the first Viagra clinical trials, going on to establish a wholly nurse-led erectile dysfunction clinic at a time when sexual health was rarely discussed in mainstream care. Through this work, Lorraine became a leading voice in highlighting the unmet sexual and intimacy needs of men diagnosed with prostate cancer and their partners.

With over four decades of clinical, educational and advocacy experience, she is widely regarded as a pioneer in integrating sexual wellbeing, pleasure and quality of life into oncology and survivorship care.

Lorraine is the first nurse on the Advisory Board of the European Society of Sexual Medicine, Trustee and Treasurer of the Sexual Advice Association and Specialist Advisor to a variety of Charities and organisations. Lorraine continues to work clinically with individuals and couples, while collaborating with national and international organisations challenge taboos and improve sexual wellbeing for all.
